Privacy Policy

Information on how IChemE processes data provided can be found at: www.icheme.org/legal

Please check this box to confirm you have read and agree to this policy.

Please ensure you cover the following points, which are the criteria against which the nominations will be judged:

1. Scientific advance – significantly moving the state of the art on a specific topic in Process Systems Engineering, considering its multidisciplinary impact.
2. Scope and significance – demonstrated major impact in terms of application of CAPE methods and tools to solving unsolved challenging problems, possibly contributing to environmental protection, health and well-being of the planet and society.
3. Significance of impact – already widely used within and outside the CAPE-PSE community
4. Patents or publications and citations on a specific topic – pioneered or advanced a topic; motivated others to follow; established a new area of research, addressing global challenges

Be succinct but do include sufficient relevant information for the judges to evaluate the nomination. Judges are not expected to go and research candidates beyond what the nominator has written.
