

Accreditation of Chemical Engineering Programmes

Pre-Submission Advice and Mentoring

If you would like to speak to someone prior to submitting your accreditation application, please contact one of our University Accreditation Assessors directly from the list below, who may be able to act as a Mentor.

All Mentors are Chartered or Fellow Members of IChemE. They are fully trained and have experience in IChemE accreditation assessments. They would be able to advise you on IChemE accreditation matters such as curriculum requirements at all standards and levels, accreditation documentation, accreditation visit preparations, etc. However, please note that pre-submission checks and advice provided by Mentors do not constitute a formal IChemE accreditation advice, application or decision.

Please also note that IChemE does not cover any expenses that may be incurred for mentoring activities. We strongly recommend to all parties to declare any potential conflicts of interests before engaging in mentoring activities.
